

Once Upon A Time

Goldy Locks and the Gingerbread Man

By Malia Punsalan

Once upon a time there was a cookie and it was the gingerbread man, an old lady made him. He went out of the oven. He ran out the door but he made people and animals mad because he went through their legs and some of the animals did not like that. He swung through the water where he got soggy. The people and the animals kept chasing him when he ran into a girl named Goldy Locks. She saw that he was running so others would not eat him. So Goldy Locks said "I will help you not get eaten." The gingerbread man said "yes!" So Goldy Locks said to the people "he says sorry." The people and animals also said sorry. Goldy Locks and the gingerbread man had a picnic.

The end!
